Mary,

Sorry – I did draft and fail to hit send. Please find attached the Gantt chart for where things stand today with Florida's assumption timelines. Please note that Florida anticipates there could be more than one round of changes to the rule, each with potential public comment and attendant timelines, so this could go well beyond what is portrayed in the chart.

When looking at the chart you may note that our final actions exceed 120 days. This is because we anticipate that we may publish the final decision before publishing our response to comments.

Tom and Rosemary are working to schedule a full briefing on this matter.

Thanks
jeaneanne
